The Lawyers' Club of Philadelphia

Founded in 1892, The Lawyers' Club of Philadelphia exists to promote and foster relationships of collegiality and congeniality among Philadelphia lawyers and judges. As envisioned by its Charter, the purpose of the Club is "to encourage social intercourse and a free discussion of matters affecting lawyers; elevating the standard of professional ethics, aiding in all movements looking toward the prompt and efficient administration of justice and the promotion of legislation for that purpose." True to its founding roots, The Lawyers' Club of today continues to offer opportunities for social interaction with state and federal court judges and attorneys from all areas of practice by hosting informal receptions throughout the year. Not simply a social organization, The Lawyers' Club strives to inject the spirit of its Charter mission by hosting this year's CLE seminar: "Trial by Jury."
